The National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, including changes made by the ADA Amendments Act of 2008 (ADAAA) and related regulations. To ensure equal opportunity for all qualified persons, NASBA will make reasonable accommodations for applicants with disabilities. Applicants are responsible for any costs incurred in obtaining the required diagnosis and recommendation. NASBA will pay for any reasonable accommodations that are approved.

International Qualification Examination (IQEX) Testing Accommodations Request Form

The following information is provided to ensure qualifying individuals applying for the International Qualification Examination (IQEX) are protected under the ADA. All requests submitted through the IQEX Testing Accommodations Request Form will be evaluated by NASBA to determine the following:

- The applicant has a disability as defined by the ADA
- There is a current need for testing accommodations
- A reasonable accommodation can be provided

All approved testing accommodations must maintain the psychometric nature and security of the examination. Accommodations that fundamentally alter the nature or security of the exam will not be granted.

Disability Documentation Guidelines

The following guidelines describe the necessary components of acceptable evidence required to validate a disability and the current need for testing accommodations. A prior history of accommodations, without demonstration of a current need, will not necessarily warrant approval of testing accommodations. To avoid unnecessary delays, ensure the submission of all information and documentation is in accordance with these guidelines.

Qualified individuals with disabilities are required to request accommodations at least four weeks before an exam administration. This allows time for the request to be evaluated and processed, and for NASBA to arrange for reasonable accommodations and services to be delivered the day of the examination. Consequently, it is in the applicant's best interest to provide recent and appropriate documentation that clearly defines the extent and impact of the disability upon current levels of academic and physical functioning.

- The request for accommodations and appropriate supporting documentation should provide evidence of a substantial limitation to physical or mental (academic) functioning.
- Clinical evaluations must be performed by a licensed/certified or otherwise qualified professional with credentials appropriate to diagnose and treat the disability (i.e., physician, psychologist, or specialist). Information about the qualified professional's area of specialization and professional credentials, including certification and licensure, should be clearly delineated in the documentation that is provided to NASBA.
- Documentation must be submitted on official letterhead from a licensed or qualified professional who has examined the applicant and diagnosed a physical or mental impairment. Depending on the nature of the disability and written evaluation, documentation may include a letter from a physician or a detailed report.
- Documentation should be no more than three years old.
- Disability documentation must be detailed and specific. Documentation for all disabilities should describe the extent of the disability, the criteria for the diagnosis, the diagnosis, the type and length of treatment and the recommended accommodation. Terms such as "problems," "deficiencies," "weaknesses," "differences" and "learning disability" are not the equivalent of a diagnosed specific disability (such as ADHD, Dyslexia, Multiple Sclerosis, etc.).
- Documentation must provide evidence of a substantial current limitation to physical or mental functioning.
- For a temporary disability, the documentation should clearly indicate the impact of the disability as well as the anticipated length of the recovery.

Disability Documentation Guidelines (continued) - Mental Health Disabilities

- For invisible (mental) disabilities, the following areas should be assessed:
  - Ability: The Weschler Adult Intelligence Scale IV (WAIS-IV), with its subtests can be included as a standard measure of overall intelligence. The WAIS-IV should only be one component of a full documentation report. Other adult intelligence scales or assessments may be deemed acceptable in lieu of the WAIS-IV. Consult a qualified professional for additional information.
  - Achievement: Current levels of academic functioning in relevant areas, such as reading (decoding and comprehension), mathematics, and oral/written language are relevant to determining whether or not there is a current need for accommodations. The tests submitted should be standardized and valid for use in an adolescent/adult population. Consult a qualified professional for additional information.
  - Processing Skills: Other tests in processing areas may warrant evaluation as indicated by the tests above. These areas include information processing, visual and auditory processing, and processing speed.

These suggested tests are not meant to preclude assessment in other relevant areas, such as psychological status or vocational skills.

Additional Information

- NASBA must approve any modification to the exam administration. Approvals are made on a case-by-case basis.
- In order to schedule an exam with testing accommodations, you must first receive a Testing Accommodations Notice to Schedule (NTS) from NASBA and then contact the Prometric Testing Accommodations Department. Candidates approved for extended time only may schedule exam appointments online. Other scheduling restrictions may apply. Refer to the IQEX Candidate Bulletin for additional information.
