

PUERTO RICO BOARD OF ACCOUNTANCY

FINAL EXTENSION OVER EXPIRATION DATE TO CPA CANDIDATES UNDER THE JURISDICTION OF PUERTO RICO

May 14, 2018

The PR Board of Accountancy is conscious of the devastation caused by Hurricane Maria. Said damages have seriously impair the ability of candidates to complete their CPA Licensure requirements. In response to said situation, the Board previously approved, twice, time extensions over partial credits with expiration dates from September 2017 through December 2017 deferred to June 30, 2018.

However, our jurisdiction is still experiencing the aftermath of Maria over its essential services, such as electrical power, internet services, highway and road access, and others that have severely affected PR CPA candidates.

After a careful consideration of these facts and the need and demand for CPA's in our jurisdiction, the Board believes that is a compelling need to defer the expiration date for partial credits with expirations dates scheduled for September 2017 through June 2018 to a final deferment period to expire on September 30, 2018.

The Puerto Rico Board of Accountancy encourages all CPA candidates to study as hard as they can to complete successfully the CPA requirements through this new deferred period. This will be our last extension of time. Best of success to all.

The preceding statement was approved unanimously by the Board on its meeting celebrated on May 14, 2018.
