

CHAIRMAN'S LETTER:

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE A CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT (CPA)

Being a first-generation immigrant from India, I am proud of being of Indian descent and proud to be an American. I have wanted to be a Certified Public Accountant since I was five years old as my Dad (my mentor) was not only a Chartered Accountant in India but also a businessman. As a five-year-old, I was in awe of my Dad bringing home these huge ledgers and adding up numbers in his head and then analyzing the numbers. Being able to add numbers up in your head goes well with the perception that CPAs are bean counters. I can attest to the fact that CPAs are more than bean counters and are using their skills beyond the traditional careers in audit and tax. To be quite honest, when I began my career, I used a calculator and now use technology tools for the addition of numbers. On a day-to-day basis, my skills are more applied to analyzing data and providing solutions to complex tax issues.

Dolly Lalvani

When I took the CPA Exam, there were no calculators allowed during the Exam. It's hard to imagine, but that was only 25 years ago. Today, candidates are taking a computerized test during various months of the year versus the test being administered only twice a year. The CPA Exam has evolved from the traditional written test to the computerized test.

Similarly, the profession continues to evolve with data analytics and automation.

The CPA brand represents trust, ethics and integrity with the public. Whether a candidate chooses the career path of public accounting, industry or government, they are a trusted advisor.

It's hard to imagine that only a few years ago, the iPhone did not exist, and now we have information at our fingertips, thanks to the iPhone. Change is constant, and our profession continues to evolve.

It's a privilege to pay it forward – whether it is mentoring my nieces and nephews about their career choice or mentoring high school and college students regarding being a CPA. It's also about mentoring staff in my firm about the benefits of being a CPA.

Thank you for your time and contributions to the profession and to the public.

MEET OUR BOARD MEMBERS

DOLLY M. LALVANI, CPA – CHAIR

Ms. Lalvani is a tax director in the Private Company Services practice of PricewaterhouseCoopers, LLP (Harrisburg, PA). With over 23 years of experience in public accounting, she manages day-to-day delivery of tax services for private companies and works closely with them to identify tax planning ideas that increase cash flow.

Dolly Lalvani

Her clients have included companies in the real estate, law, retail, manufacturing and pharmaceutical industries. She has assisted clients with full range of tax planning services, and has significant experience providing compliance and planning services to partnerships and other “pass-through” entities.

Ms. Lalvani received her undergraduate degree of business administration in accounting from Texas A&M International. She is a licensed certified public accountant in Pennsylvania and is a member of Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants (PICPA), the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) and the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA), where she currently serves on the association’s Diversity Committee.

Her additional professional affiliations include being the executive vice president of the Greater Philadelphia Chapter of Ascend (2007-2009), serving as treasurer and board member of the Girl Scouts in the Heart of Pennsylvania (2011-2017) and currently serving as a board member for the Foundation for Enhancing Communities since 2014.

ERIK V. SCULLY, ESQ., CPA, BOARD VICE-CHAIR

Mr. Scully is both a certified public accountant and an attorney licensed in Pennsylvania. He is a shareholder in the law firm of Scully & Scully, P.C., with offices in Pittsburgh and Wexford, PA.

Erik Scully

His practice is concentrated in the areas of taxation, estate planning, estate administration and probate law. He also provides advisory and consulting services to business owners and other entrepreneurs and has served on the board of profit and not-for-profit companies and organizations. Mr. Scully’s practice has a particular emphasis in representing clients during tax controversies and tax litigation at the federal, state and local levels. He received his undergraduate degree from Syracuse University and his law degree from St. Louis University.

Mr. Scully is listed in Who’s Who in American Law; and is a member of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of State, Bureau of Professional and Occupational Affairs, State Board of Accountancy (Appointed to 2011-2015 Term) (Reappointed to 2016-2020 Term), Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants (Chairman: Pennsylvania State Ethics Committee; Appointed to 2005-2007 Term), Member: Executive Committee (Southwestern Chapter) (2005-2006), Pennsylvania State Ethics Committee (Elected to 2004-2007 Term), Speakers Bureau (Southwestern Chapter) (Chairman 1999-2005), Committee on the Cooperation with the Bar (Southwestern Chapter), the Allegheny County Bar Association (Member: Taxation Section) and the American Association of Attorney - Certified Public Accountants.

A frequent lecturer to professional groups, Mr. Scully has authored numerous articles on legal, accounting and tax issues affecting individuals and businesses. He may be reached at evsesqcpa@scullytaxlawgroup.com.

NASBA PRESIDENT'S MEMO

"THAT DOG AIN'T GONNA HUNT!"

For many months we have been discussing the impact of technology on the accounting profession and, specifically, considering a new "technology pathway" to become a CPA. The culmination of that process for NASBA took place at the Regional Meetings, where thoughtful and passionate discussions occurred. Saying that there was a "lack of support" for the two-path concept would be an understatement: In fact, there was strong and consistent opposition to the concept. As my old grandpa used to say: "That dog ain't gonna hunt!" After listening to and reflecting upon your feedback, by the end of the Western Regional Meeting I had advised NASBA's governance leadership that I no longer supported pursuing the two-pathway concept and suggested we consider a new approach. Chair Ted Long has placed this as a major item on the agenda for the NASBA Board of Directors' meeting in July.

Ken L. Bishop
President & CEO

So where does that leave us? First, let me state that leadership was very pleased with the robust debate that occurred at the Regional breakouts and in other forums across the country. While it became obvious that the proposal, admittedly a somewhat radical idea, was unacceptable to most of our Boards, there was a clear consensus that we need to do something. The comments we heard most frequently were: "We are glad NASBA and AICPA are focusing on this issue" and, "The current pathway needs to be modified to address the use and reliance on technology." The responses from the Boards were not inconsistent with the feedback from recent AICPA Council meetings. Similarly, from the discussions that I have had with individuals, large firms, state societies and several other stakeholder groups, the support for evolving the current pathway to become a CPA is prevalent.

It was clear to me that many of our volunteers came to the meetings well prepared to discuss this initiative. The insightful comments we received included suggestions and recommendations to be considered in lieu of the proposed technology pathway. NASBA staff have been consolidating and categorizing those comments as we prepare for leadership meetings with the AICPA to consider next steps. I am hopeful that we can refocus our efforts without losing the momentum resultant from the work to this point.

We have already begun discussions with our AICPA counterparts, both volunteers and staff, about the ideas and opportunities that developed during the exposure process. Those discussions will be formalized at the upcoming AICPA/NASBA Summit in August and in senior staff preparation meetings for the Summit. I am optimistic that we can quickly pivot to a new course of action that addresses the need for change with as little disruption to the current pipeline and marketplace as possible. Hopefully, we will have a new approach fleshed out by the NASBA Annual Meeting in late October.

I am writing this President's Memo near the end of our fiscal year -- and what a year it has been! Beyond the technology discussions, this has been a year of development and implementation of several major IT projects, the completion of the NASBA buildout at our Nashville offices, the opening of our new Guam testing and call centers, and a restructuring of several of our business and service operations.

For most of us at NASBA, the pinnacle measurement of a successful year is our relationship with you, our member Boards. This year we had a record 54 states and territories represented at the NASBA Annual Meeting and 51 participated in this year's Regional Meetings. Other records include the number of requests for assistance by State Boards, the amount (nearly $10 million) of mission spending in support of State Boards, the number of Student Chapters (now 40) in our Center for the Public Trust subsidiary and, finally, we have continued to grow NASBA's net assets to a record amount, assuring we can continue to fulfill our mission to support Boards of Accountancy. This is my opportunity to say "thank you" to the many NASBA volunteers who helped make all of this possible, and for the support and trust given me again this year.

Semper ad meliora (Always toward better things).
